

Path to success after release.

Robert Goitom

- Register for fall classes at Edmonds Comm & take Ged If I have not already completed it by the time I leave F.D.C. Seatac.
- Acquire part time job.
- Set up payment plan for my legal financial obligations.
- Attend regular sit down meetings with my drug & alcohol counselor yahan at Asian American Treatment.
- Spend more time bonding with my father
- Distance myself from negative people & friends by taking up a hobby to take up my down time.
- Be more involved in my community with volunteer work
- Spend more time with younger cousin who just turned 21 & show him how not to make the same mistakes I have made. For example by ~~staying~~ staying away from drugs & alcohol, what type of friends to have around you, places not to go ~~to~~ hanging out, planning for the future & accomplishments he would like to achieve, etc.
- Attend church more & further my faith with God
- Start thinking about starting a family & how I will provide for them.
- Purchasing an apartment or house one day to raise a family in.

- Start taking care of my parents because they are not getting any younger as time goes by.
- Abide by my federal probation & make a plan with my probation officer how I will complete probation with no violations & do what is asked of me while on probation.
- Research more information about obtaining business lic & how to start my own business.
